FOOD DEMOCRACY

MEMEFEST 2013

Billy Burns
In Australia, around 12 million hens are confined to a space smaller than an A4 piece of paper. the wingspan of a chicken is around 32" twice the size of the space allocated.
these birds have no access to proper ventilation or natural sunlight
they are unable to perform their natural behaviours 1 in 6 live with broken bones after 18 mth's
the hens are sent to slaughter
every egg bought represents 30hrs of their suffering In nature, a mother hen will build a private nest to lay her eggs, and will even go without food or water if it means she can have a private nest to protect her babies. Even before they hatch a mother hen will cluck to her chicks, and from inside their egg they cluck in response. Once hatched, she teaches her chicks what is safe to eat and what to avoid. None of this is possible for battery caged hens. (via)

http://battery-caged-hens.tumblr.com Safeway/Coles
McDonalds/KFC
Poster Mockup’s

in australia around 12m hens are confined to a space smaller than an a4 piece
of paper 1 in 6
live with broken bones

every egg
bought represents 30hrs of their suffering
Poster Mockup’s

these birds have no access to proper ventilation or natural sunlight

they are unable to perform their natural behaviours
every egg bought represents 30hrs of their suffering