

LAND GRAB

Food insecurity is causing nations and companies to buy or lease land directly from other countries. Main targets are developing nations whose corrupt or weak governments cooperate with investors at the expense of their people.

From 2001-2010 there were 227 million hectares (ha) of recorded land deals (the size of Western Europe), many with land going for as little as $1/ha.

YOU WIN!
You are a terrible person.

Text your name to 1800 'Grab' to give $1 to save a hectare and to sign a petition to the World Bank to freeze its land grab investments.

You set your sights on some "under utilised" communal land for sugar, rice and grain.
Choose and spin

Poach another player's land grab by making a better offer.
You need to spin 1 higher than required number

Protests from farmers about you diverting water are becoming a nuisance.
Miss a turn while you deal with the situation

You foresee a time when you may need some extra land. 'Bank' some and let it idle for a 'rainy day'.
Choose and spin

The government is offering 100% land ownership, with no restrictions on use.
Grab any free land for 3 less than needed

You want to make more off the international grain trade market by increasing your production.
Choose and spin

Poach another player's land grab by making a better offer.
You need to spin 1 higher than required number

You establish a soybean crop to be used exclusively to feed your nation's livestock population.
Choose and spin

A deal you made with a 3rd party is proven 'illegal'. You return the land, too bad it was already bulldozed.
Lose a land grab

Climate uncertainty leads you to seek food security for your own nation. It's not like you're making the problem worse ...
Choose and spin

You trick locals into a 35 year lease, that can be renewed afterwards for 95 years by the state.
Grab any free land for 2 less than needed

Poach another player's land grab by making a better offer.
You need to spin 1 higher than required number

A deal is asking you to increase local food security as well. Preposterous.
You miss a turn to look for another investment

You aim to grab 25,000 ha and convert it from food to biofuel crops. How environmental of you.
Choose and spin

Your grab will cost you just $1 per hectare and mechanisation will cut labour costs.
Grab any free land for 3 less than needed

Poach another player's land grab by making a better offer.
You need to spin 1 higher than required number

Water equals greater yield but there are pesky usage limits in your country ... developing nations however ...
Choose and spin

Bad land grab press is affecting your business. Time for a token gesture.
Lose a land grab

SPIN TO START

You decide to make some land grabs so your nation won't have to rely on food imports.
Choose and spin

The government is helping locals to 'vacate voluntarily' ... with army and police.
Grab any free land for 2 less than needed

You see land grabs as a way of growing cash crops by sacrificing another nation's food security instead of your own.
Choose and spin

You make a deal to lease a vast amount of fertile land to cultivate cut flowers for export.
Choose and spin

Displaced locals somehow manage to contest your land grab as "inhumane".
Miss a turn to prepare a legal justification

Poach another player's land grab by making a better offer.
You need to spin 1 higher than required number

You want land for "sustainable" timber plantations. You're sure the locals won't miss their crops.
Choose and spin

The government is offering tax free land and duty free imports on machinery.
Grab any free land for 2 less than needed

You source 50,000 ha of land to break into the lucrative palm oil industry.
